Cindy Lee Floyd : Greenberg's Marx Train Catalogues: 1938-1975 before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Greenberg's Marx Train Catalogues: 1938-1975:

About This Book: This expertly-curated book contains Marx train catalogues from the late 1930's to 1975. Beginning with the early bw catalogues sorted by store (Woolworth, W.T. Grant, G.C. Murphy) through the introduction of color catalogues in the early 1950's, this is an invaluable book with a high level of reproduction. Book Details: Pictorial hardback boards with a sewn binding; 208 pp; large format; 2.5 pounds; illustrations throughout. Blurb: "Marx trains were favorite playthings for generations of American youngsters, and now they have become valued objects for today's toy collectors. now, for the first time, toy train collectors and operators alike can follow the intriguing history of Louis Marx Co. as if unfolds on the pages of hard-to-find dealer and consumer catalogues. This one convenient volume is a treasure trove of important information...."
